

This was not our first home purchase so it was with a mature perspective we began our house hunting expedition. We looked at over 100 homes. There were several things which impressed us about a Taylor Knox home. The first was the stunning and balanced architectural lines on the outside of the house which, for us, had tremendous curb appeal. Taylor Knox home designs speak of high quality. Next, the Knox homes we visited had simply stunning interiors with a certain character we just could not find in other comparable homes. From tray ceilings to exquisite crown molding throughout the house, hardwood floors, granite kitchen counters including a magnificent island with lots of cabinet space and premium appliances all contributed to making Knox homes stand out from all the homes we visited.

The Taylor Knox team and the professionalism his organization showed us in our home purchase made us extremely comfortable buyers. We are pleased to recommend a Taylor Knox home – you will be delighted with your new home!
